cious Event.

That interesting and impressive event the laying of the corner stone of the Y. M. C. A. building occurred resterday afternoon under circumstances of the most mony, the exercises were of a most appropriate and interesting character, and in fact nothing was wanting to make the co-casion a complete success in every way. At the time appointed for the exercises a very large number of people had seem-bled upon the first floor of the building, about the building and vicinity, and many station yesterday to answer to the charge were present in carriages. Upon the floor were the city pastors, the members of the Goff. When the two men met Mr. Coff at Ladles' Auxiliary, the largest organization or ce said that he was mistaken and that of the kind in the world, officers of the Y. Mr. Parsons was not the one whom he at the city. A platform with a covering had or ce ended, there being nothing against been creeted on the Court street side and it was used by the speakers.

Soon after three o'clock, the assemblage was called to order by President J. G. of the programme would be the slaging of "Coronation" by the audience. The singing was accompanied by Miss Ingail; upon the organ, Mr. E. C. Adams upon the cor net, and was entered into with much feel-

The invocation by Rev. T. E. Busfield. pastor of the First Baptlat church followed, and then Rev. John McGaw Foster, rector of St. John's Episcopal courch, read several appropriate selections from the Seriotures. The song "God Bless My Boy" by the Apollo Quartette, was rendered with the harmony and expression for which the quartette is noted.

President Blake then delivered the following historical address, which was a fellige. most interesting account of the formation and progress of the Bangor Y. M. C. A.: The occasion which calls us together is
